Nixon to Speak In Louisiana

Vice President Makes 5th Foray Into South

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon scheduled speeches in Louisiana and Mississippi today to wind up the second week of his intensive presidential election drive.

Associates said Nixon based his decision to make a fifth foray into the South on reports that the strong Democratic civil rights platform has made a battleground of virtually every Southern state.

He was to take the Republican drive into Louisiana for the first time with a speech at Lafayette. From there he was to fly to Jackson, the capital, in his first bid for Mississippi votes.

Nixon, speaking in Kansas City, Kan., Friday night, noted overcast weather outside and recalled the drizzling rain that fell intermittently during a major farm speech earlier in the day at Sioux Falls, S. D.

But, he said, "as far as the political climate is concerned, it couldn't be better in either place."

Memorial Hall, seating 4,500, was filled to overflowing in Kansas City, the biggest Democratic stronghold in normally Republican Kansas. A crowd of 3,500 had waited for Nixon in the rain when he flew in from Sioux Falls.

The crowd in South Dakota was large, too. An enthusiastic National Guard official put it at 70,000, though most reporters thought the estimate far too high. Some figured it was upwards of 15,000.

But it was a crowd that was mostly silent, applauding loudest when Nixon spoke of peace as the most important campaign issue. The Dakotans showed little response when he talked about the nation's farm problem.

Enrollment in the Salem Trades Extension program at the Senior High School wing has reached 410 as the result of new courses offered.

Twelve persons signed up for the new electronics course, 30 in traffic management and 85 others for commercial subjects.

Over-all enrollment is about the same as last year, said H. W. Cameron, director of the trades school which is now in its 32nd year.

Mother Kills Son, Wounds 2 Daughters

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A mother went on a rampage with a knife and a pair of scissors Friday night that left her only son dead and her two daughters in critical condition with multiple stab wounds, police said.

Imogene Craig, 29, wife of a staff psychiatrist at University of Michigan Hospital and herself under a psychiatrist's care, then tried to take her own life but apparently lost her nerve.

"I know I hurt my children but I don't know why," Mrs. Craig told police.

Dead in the brief outbreak of unexplained violence was Thomas Craig IV, 2½. Police said he was stabbed repeatedly as he lay in his crib.

In critical condition at University Hospital were his sisters, Ellen, 6, and Shannon, 5. Both had multiple stab wounds and underwent surgery for fractured skulls.

Mrs. Craig, who fled her suburban Pittsfield village home after the outburst, was found sitting on a lawn two blocks from her home by two firemen. She had cut herself in the chest with a knife in an apparent suicide attempt and was taken to St. Joseph Mercy.

Kennedy Lauds Mormon 'Battle'

Faces Nixon In TV Debate on Monday

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy headed toward Chicago and a brief respite from the campaign trail today after praising a Mormon battle "to make religious liberty a living reality" in this country.

Before leaving on an overnight flight aboard his private plane, the Democratic presidential candidate won cheers for a fighting speech striking back at Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his Republican rival, for calling him naive about the Communists.

Kennedy plans to take the day off at the Chicago area home of his sister, Eunice Shriver, who has been traveling with him on a 19-day, 14-state tour which began last Wednesday.

Sunday, he will fly to Cleveland for more campaigning. He is scheduled to return to Chicago in the evening to prepare for his television debate Monday with Nixon—the first of a series of four to be carried nationwide on TV.

Shortly before taking off from Salt Lake City Friday night, Kennedy touched on the controversy in some areas over his Catholicism.

He made no mention of that controversy in his formal speech, but he paid tribute to the Mormon people for, as he put it, "having proven to the nation in this century that a public servant devoted in his church faith was still capable of undiminished allegiance to the Constitution and national interest."

Speaking to more than 8,000 persons who filled the great Mormon Tabernacle to overflowing, Nikita's Attack on Dag Raises Crisis For U.N.

Nikita Trying To Confuse U.S., Lodge Declares

Tells Area Audiences His U.N. Proposals Are Unthinkable

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge asserts Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev seeks to confuse the United States and her allies.

"What he said in New York certainly cannot be taken at face value," Lodge said here and in nearby Warren Friday while campaigning as the Republican vice presidential nominee.

Lodge, who earned a reputation while ambassador for standing up to the communists, termed Khrushchev's proposals for reorganizing and moving the United Nations "thoroughly frivolous, thoroughly specious."

"They demonstrate ill will toward world peace," Lodge said while campaigning in this nominally Democratic steelmaking area of northeastern Ohio.

After an overnight stay at a motel, Lodge headed for New York to tape a speech for a later television broadcast. He plans a talk in Hartford, Conn. tonight in the windup of a 3,000-mile tour of the Midwest that began Sunday.

During the tour, a finger on his right hand was bruised by a slammed car door in Indiana and he resorted to southpaw handshaking. "It is much better," he told those inquiring about the bandaged ring finger.

Lodge said the communists met defeat on the Congo situation and election of a new United Nations president and observed:

"The Soviets couldn't have gotten off to a much worse start than they did, which causes me no grief whatever."

He said the communists met defeat on the Congo situation and election of a new United Nations president and observed:

"When a decision goes against them, then they say 'Destroy the office of the secretary-general and move out of New York.' Such proposals are unthinkable."

Lodge said the United Nations secretary-general went to the Congo with the result that the Congo did not become another Korea or another world war.

Lauding the experience of his running mate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Lodge said this nation needs leadership.

"There is no time in this dangerous world for on-the-job training," he added in an obvious reference to Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

The remark brought howls of glee and applause from audiences here and in Warren.

Youngstown Police Capt. William Golden Estimated the crowd in Idora Park Pavilion at about 2,500.

'Tapped Tills' for Money to Buy Team

Michael, 30, wanted to buy the Pirates and had accumulated at least $118,000 toward the purchase price—by till tapping.

Till tapping involves the unobtrusive scooping of money from a store's cash drawer and stuffing it in your pocket.

This is the story Godula told the FBI:

Back in 1950, when Branch Rickey was putting together the team that later became the terror of the league, Michael shagged fly balls and tended bats for the Pirates.

Debate Details Are Announced

Closing Spot Won By Sen. Kennedy

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy will confront each other before television cameras Monday night to discuss their views on the nation's economic condition.

The presidential candidates will meet in a studio of the Columbia Broadcasting System for the first of a series of television discussions. Three cameras will relay their images to all television networks.

Here is how the discussion will be organized:

Shortly after 8:30 p. m., CDT, Kennedy will appear on television screens throughout the nation. He will have exactly eight minutes for his opening remarks.

Nixon then will have eight minutes to discuss the economic question, an issue both agreed upon two weeks ago.

After both have made their introductory remarks the cameras will draw back to four radio and television newsmen who will put questions to both candidates.

Kennedy will be asked the first question and will have 2½ minutes to answer. If Nixon chooses to offer a rebuttal, he will be given 1½ minutes.

With Howard K. Smith of CBS news moderating, this routine will continue until 9:22 p. m.

At that time, Smith will signal that the questioning period is over and Nixon will be given three minutes for a closing statement. Kennedy will have the last word, having won in a drawing the last three minutes for his closing remarks.

All details of the presentation were tentatively accepted by the candidates some time ago, except the choice closing spot which a Kennedy aide secured Friday at the final planning conference.

Appeals Court Upholds Maras Conviction

James H. Maras, 20, of 2234 Weir Road, Warren, who is serving 10 to 25 years in Ohio Penitentiary for armed robbery in Columbiana County, lost his appeal Friday.

Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw received word that Seventh District Court of Appeals affirmed the conviction returned last March 30 by a Common Pleas Court jury.

Maras based his appeal on "mistaken identity." He claimed he was home with a cold the night of Dec. 10-11, 1959, when the state claimed he and another gunman held up Barnett's Motel on Rt. 62, west of Salem, and fled with an unidentified lookout. They got over $650.

Motel owner Nick Rini; his wife, Lena, and Miss Berdina Berger, clerk, identified Maras as the gunman who shut them up in a lavatory while his companion searched the house.

Three hours after the holdup, Newton Falls policemen stopped a car for a traffic check. The driver identified himself as Charles Haras, 39, of 2234 Weir Rd., Warren, while the other man in the front seat was known to police as Edmund Maras, 30, Newton Falls.

A third man was asleep on the back seat. Police asked who he was and were told he was James Maras, Edmund's brother.

The Newton Falls police did not learn of the robbery until an hour later. On their information, James Maras was apprehended at his

Russian U.N. Defeat Seen

Herter Hopes Nikita Seeks Showdown

NEW YORK (AP)—Christian A. Herter hopes Nikita Khrushchev will push his United Nations revamping proposals to a showdown. The secretary of state foresees a stinging defeat for the Soviet Premier if he does.

Herter's attitude was reported on unimpeachable authority today after he met with the foreign ministers of the other two powers of the Western Big Three — Lord Home of Britain and Maurice Couve de Murville of France.

Soon after Khrushchev lashed out at U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold Friday and suggested his post be abolished in a major reorganization of the international organization, Herter publicly termed the Soviet leader's blast "a real declaration of war against the structure, the personnel and the location of the United Nations."

It was understood the British

LISBON — Frank V. Weltner, 90, and Sara Cowling, 59, were married Friday night in the chapel of Trinity United Presbyterian Church in East Liverpool by the pastor, Rev. Rudolph Miller, and have left on their wedding trip.

The couple secured a license yesterday in Probate Court. He is a resident of Hookstown, Pa., and she is an East Liverpool sales lady.

"He certainly didn't look or act like 90," court personnel said. He was erect and his eyes sparkled.

Miss Cowling confided that he was her first "date." She serves as his chauffeur.

Nellie Flick took the license application. Last week, she handled the application of a Salem man, 22, and woman, 76. "If this keeps up, the judge will want to replace me," she said.

The couple yesterday got the license right away. "We couldn't make them wait five days when the bridegroom is 90," clerks said. The couple hoped their minister would be back from a trip in time to marry them last night.

Russian Asks Organization's Site be Changed

First Week of Assembly's Session Ends on Gloomy Note

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A towering crisis confronted the United Nations today, raised by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's bulldozer attacks on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and the keystones of the organization itself.

The first week of the General Assembly's 15th session ended on a note of gloom.

Western diplomats, stressing the gravity of the situation, called Khrushchev's blistering words "an attempt to destroy" the U. N. and a "declaration of war" on it.

Asks Office Be Abolished
Khrushchev used the word "stooges" and clearly implied that Hammarskjold had abused his position by his actions in the Congo. He then said the office of secretary-general should be abolished, to be replaced by a three-man committee of representatives of the West, East and neutralist nations.

Finally, he said the site of the U. N. should be changed from New York to Switzerland or Austria.

In New York, he said, U. N. representatives are subjected to "restrictions" and "attacks by gangsters."

President Eisenhower, while not commenting directly, agreed with Ambassador James J. Wadsworth chief of the American delegation, who said, "The crisis consists of an attempt to destroy the office and the very structure of the secretary-general and the secretariat and through it, to destroy the United Nations."

Declaration of War On U.N.
Secretary of State Christian A. Herter called it "a real declaration of war on the U. N."

Herter hopes Khrushchev will push his United Nations revamping proposals to a showdown, it was learned, because he is confident the Soviet Premier will meet with a stinging defeat.

Herter gave a private dinner Friday night for British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. The Western Big Three diplomats talked into the early hours in what amounted to a major diplomatic strategy session.

A British Foreign Office spokesman supported Herter's charge that Khrushchev had declared war on the U. N. and added, "The weaker the United Nations is, the greater the chance the Soviet Union has of achieving world domination."

"The fears we felt concerning the shape that the debate would take at this session are confirmed," said a French diplomat.

Touched On Big Question
This remark touched on the great questions hanging over the U. N.

How can progress be made toward solutions of the problems on the agenda now that Khrushchev has attacked Hammarskjold's integrity and declared that the secretary-general's office is out-dated by events?

Does the Communist bloc intend to discuss seriously any of the issues coming before this session? The questions rose as still more head of state converged on New York—giving this session of the General Assembly the character of a super-summit.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic arrived Friday. Canada's Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker was due today.

Scheduled to arrive Sunday were Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, and Prince Norodom Sihanouk, key political figure of Cambodia.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own."

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done, From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

Now There's a Suburban Vote

If you are a suburbanite—and chances are you either have joined that category or will in the near future, if you're neither a professional farmer nor a confirmed urbanite—political analysts are looking over carefully.

You and your neighbors hold the balance of power in every industrialized state. Big-city voters are the largest and most manageable group. So-called farm voters are next largest and least manageable. But no one quite knows what to make of suburbanites, except that they can be identified as a group and tend to react as a group.

Some of the speculation about their reaction in politics is more than ordinarily interesting, particularly the speculation about their increasing numbers. Their numerical strength in 1960, as shown by preliminary census reports, is massive enough to be preponderant if they show the same homogeneity in politics that they show in their support of public education, their tastes in recreation and in their mode of living.

The unknown factor is how moderate their common possession of mortgages and acceptance of educational obligations may be making them. There is a strong possibility they may bulk large enough in economic conservatism to offset the radicalism typical of big-city voters in recent years.

In presidential politics, if conservatism from this source is forthcoming; to the degree being speculated about by some observers, the classic formula of Democratic electioneering may not work the way it did for Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

Register and vote the big-city machine electorate and don't worry about the others. They will split even-Stephen anyway, and the electoral vote of the state can be pried into the Democratic column by big-city leverage.

Another Cold War Surprise

Try as we may to be ready for any eventuality in the cold war, we can always expect the unpredictable to happen.

Very often it is unpredictable because it is unexplainable, at least by logic.

A case in point was the cheering by 3,000 persons of Fidel Castro when he arrived in New York for the United Nations General Assembly session.

Police were well prepared—as were Castro's own bearded bodyguards—for boos and other expressions of dislike. Such were heard, it is true, at various points along the route to the Cuban dictator's hotel.

But entirely unexpected was the crowd of 3,000 which turned up at the airport to cheer.

One explanation might be found in the fact that some of the Castro roters were expatriates from the Dominican Republic and Nicaragua. The United States has plenty of exiles from Latin America, some of whom probably see Castro as a lot more desirable than the rulers who separated them from their homelands.

Another explanation might be that Castro's agents had done a quiet, effective job of rounding up scattered supporters for the public appearance. It has been no secret that Castro has agents roaming all over the Western Hemisphere.

Still another explanation might be that there are innocents too uninformed to realize that Fidel long ago abandoned the announced aims of his "democratic revolution."

And, of course, it is certainly not beyond the realm of possibility that among the cheerers were outright American Communists, who do not get much opportunity to appear and shout their sympathies in public.

Whatever the explanation, it still comes as a surprise that 3,000 people could be got together in a single place in the United States to cheer the hairy egotist.

One wonders why they haven't all gone to Cuba if they think Castro is worth cheering. It is a lot more stylish pastime in Havana than it is anywhere in the United States.

They Caged the Iron Horse

You wonder, if you think railroads have been getting a raw deal in high taxes and strict regulation, what would happen if all the unions that have a stake in railroads went to work on Congress.

You wonder, specifically, how things would be if Mike Quill, who tied up the Pennsy, were to turn his genius for pressure-blocing against the legislators who could do something constructive about railroad taxes and regulation.

Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, was talking. Wednesday about the railroad problem before a joint seminar sponsored by the five train-operating brotherhoods and the School of Industrial and Labor Relations in Cornell University.

"The railroads are overtaxed, over-regulated and are being overwhelmed by government road, river and air development programs," he asserted. "And the problem daily becomes more acute—as each million-dollar mile of superhighway is completed, as each multi-million-dollar airport is built, as deeper river channels are dug and each set of costly new navigation locks goes into operation."

In 1887, railroads and Conestoga wagons had all long-distance transportation tied up—and no one wanted to regulate the wagons. So the new Interstate Commerce Commission concentrated on railroads. That was all right, until competitors came along. The railroads then began to wonder why their competitors shouldn't be regulated and taxed on the same basis as they were regulated and taxed.

In the meantime, the Conestoga wagons had evolved into over-the-highway trucks. Airplanes had been added in the sky, and waterways had been added on land. They were relatively free from regulation and taxation.

It was as though only one animal in a zoo was kept in a cage and the others allowed to live in what zoo keepers call their "natural habitat."

That's why you wonder what would happen if the railroad unions demanded the release of their favorite animal—the iron horse. How could Congress reasonably refuse a joint demand by both railroad management and railroad unions?

Once Over

Nikita Khrushchev and Fidel Castro may yet find photos being featured hugging each other like steam-heated brothers can turn out to be the Boomerangs of Decade.

These pictures flashed all over the world show Soviet chief in ardent love-and-kisses display of deep affection for noisier villager of the free world, democracy, restraint, fair play, international law and civilized concepts.

Here are two foremost low-punchers of Uncle Sam and his allies in a hugging scene seldom surpassed in hottest Hollywood scripts. (Nothing is missing except Victor Herbert's "Kiss Me Again" the sound of birdies in the treetops and a background of haystacks and rippling brooks.)

Two of most ruthless dictators on earth, conductors of a non-stop kick-him-again routine against Uncle Sam, singing "Embraceable You" and doing it with gusto for greater camera coverage!

This could prove the hug that launched a thousand signals alerting the free world to where Nikita and Fidel stand. Everybody knew the boys were close but who looked for them to do a Romeo and Juliet, using an East River balcony.

It was no accident. Khrushchev staged the "I Love You" interlude by taking a long walk around the chamber, to get all eyes fixed on him and then grabbing Fidel, pitiless executioner, with all the intensity of love-bird in mating season. (What! No harpsichords, mandolins or ukeleles?)

This at once put Khrushchev and Castro out ahead in power hugging and superduper embraces. Few people ever dreamed the big U.N. meeting of all nations would see some speeches eclipsed by a recitation of "The rose is red, the violet blue; sugar is sweet and so are you" and a "Hearts and Flowers" duet.

Nikita was launching the "kissnik" and

"June-moon" space flight. Disarmament my eye! What the U.S. should demand is "dis-embarrassment, with controls and underground inspections."

CARL B. BIMSON, new head of American Bankers Association, was a college strong man who used to bend horseshoes and drive nails into boards with bare hands. He says he is against "the image of stuffiness anywhere in bank." Okay, let's see you bend horseshoes in a bank window and have a nail-driving day in every bank week. It adds to the current trend in showmanship in banks, fascinates the public, attracts depositors and gives them the feeling that there is never a dull moment in a modern bank.

Will Milton Berle kill bowling or will bowling kill Berle? Or can they co-exist?

Ima Dodo got tickets to "Here Come the Clowns" thinking the show featured Castro and delegation.

African development must make it tough, in school geography lessons. (Bound Malagasy! Name the capitol of Chad. Who is the ruler of Mauretania? Huh?) ... With an Irishman at the controls in the U.N. session it takes a lot of nerve for anybody to start trouble. With so many rulers at U.N., it can be said that never has so much power, authority, vanity and arrogance been seen under one tent. Visitors are reported asking "Which way to the heavyweights?" and "Who is counting at the knockdowns?"

J.K.L. says that Castro and Nikita embrace as if they were confiscating each other. The U.S. Justice Dept. has forced big bathtub, kitchen equipment and plumbing supply corporation to "unmerge" with another company. It doesn't want anybody complaining that he found an "octopus" in the tub.

'Super-City' Headache

By THOMAS HENRY

The "megapolis" is rising all over the world. It is the super-sized city of tomorrow—probably a quite near tomorrow.

It will pose unprecedented problems in city planning, public health and other fields.

This is the conclusion of a report by the Population Reference Bureau, a demographic research organization, following an inclusive study of present population distribution trends together with the present "population explosion."

The best existing example of the "megapolis" is cited as "the New York-northeastern New Jersey metropolitan agglomeration," with an estimated population of 14.5 million, more than the combined population of Australia and New Zealand.

Indications are, however, that it may be surpassed several times in the next century, with a far-reaching impact on human living conditions.

ONE EXAMPLE cited by Dr. Robert C. Cook, author of the report, is Calcutta. At present it has a population of about 5.7 million. "Projections based on current trends would give Calcutta a population of between 35 million and 66 million (in the next century)," Cook said.

"At Manhattan's density it would sprawl over an area about as large as Rhode Island."

However, he adds, other factors probably will slow down the rate of growth, preventing the formation of such a huge city so soon. Problems of food distribution and sanitation would cause death rates to rise and check population concentration long before such a "standing room only" situation comes about.

"But," Cook asks, "can the sprawling shanty towns which make up the cities of Asia, Africa and Latin America evolve into habitable places with adequate services so necessary to urban life?"

Will the shabby, decaying, smog-ridden central cities of the industrial West be cleansed of the blight that has been accumulating since the industrial revolution began?

Or will they continue to sprawl out at an even faster rate, consuming untold acres of prime farmland with their insatiable appetite for space?

As people continue to pile up in cities, Cook says, pressures and tensions will cause unsolved social problems to grow worse and will create many new problems.

"Today," he says, "population is growing very rapidly in the United States. The greatest part of this growth is, and will continue to be for some time to come, in the metropolitan agglomerations."

"How will the cities cope with the higher rates of juvenile delinquency, mental illness, alcoholism and other social ills which ever-increasing congestion in living inevitably will bring?"

How will they meet the problems which grow in size as cities grow, such as traffic congestion, air pollution, congested slums and dwindling water supplies?"

IN THE FIELD of city planning, Dr. Cook stresses, "Man's approach still smacks of the dark ages rather than this technological age of invention. It is very likely that man first will have to face the fact that the space is the finite factor in the multiplication of people."

"In all probability, projections that indicate that a century-hence Calcutta's population could increase to 66 million or that New York could be half or two thirds that size will never materialize."

However, they serve to warn of nightmares to come, unless man begins to apply his foresight and great inventive skills to solve the problems which his unprecedented population growth has created.

U.S. Ought to Pay Cost of Protecting Reds

In great tragedies, such as Hamlet and Macbeth, master writers introduce relieving pieces of comedy. New York City is witness to a stage on which there is playing a tremendous cast of stars, among them Mr. K himself, Wladyslaw Gomułka of Poland, Kadar of Hungary, Gamal Nasser of Egypt, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, Sukarno of Indonesia, Fidel Castro of Cuba and President Eisenhower.

A considerable part of the audience is vehemently hissing the villains, like ringsters at a wrestling match. Hundreds of thousands of others share the hatred but restrain their hissing.

Some ludicrous antics maintain interest and provoke merriment. But over all, there loom ominous forebodings of things to come.

One serious factor deserves to be mentioned before we come to the comedy.

THE BURDEN of the immense job of security falls upon the New York City police force, more than 23,000 strong and in discipline and spirit, along with its counterpart in London, still the "finest" in the world.

This is perhaps its most difficult as well as its finest hour. But a certain observation should be made about why this job should be assumed by any city police department.

The issue was cogently raised by a taxi driver who was taking me home last night from the Idlewild airport. In substance, he said this: "Why should we citizens of New York be required to take on this expense, responsibility and inconvenience?"

"Washington ought to take care of this. After all, it was our State Department that brought the United Nations here, where it never should have been located anyhow."

"The police protection in the other boroughs—the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens—is so thinned out that there are more holdups, burglaries, and small crime than ever before."

Substantially, that is what I feel. Perhaps some compensation in money is given to the city for dumping this show in our midst. I don't know about that. But there is the plain fact that the New York

City government is supposed at very great expense to look after some local problems that cry out for attention.

There is the other fact that mid-Manhattan is a place where a lot of people have to work and earn a living.

Those who are not present here among those workers cannot realize what it means to live in a mess like this. Streets are barred off. Pickets and protesters and curiosity seekers are on a score of streets and corners.

The United Nations, of course, should never have been located here but that is water over the dam.

If the federal government is going to carry the quest for mutual security to this length, it ought to use a few millions to provide a federal force capable of taking over the job now imposed upon the City of New York.

IT IS TRUE that the tragic-comedy is better for free than thousands are paying for at Broadway theaters.

Fidel Castro provides malevolent farce. He and his fellow gangsters arrived with truck loads of food suitable for mountain fighting—biscuits in crates, Cuban black beans, peanuts, and chickens.

A fine hotel was induced to take them in. One can imagine what this meant to the proprietor. He found that his guests—occupying 20 suites—were plucking and cooking chickens in the rooms.

His staff was subjected to commands and behavior no doubt the same as these guerrillas used in the mountains during revolution. The hotel manager fled to a hospital, with ulcers.

Then, with a bit of acting to indicate that their feelings had been injured, the whole crowd moved out, with bags, crates, bundles, and sacks, and went to the United Nations, demanding the right to encamp there.

Finally, a hotel in Harlem was commandeered where, as this is written, the Cuban government-on-a-spre is located.

All this adds diversions to what may be a far more serious drama later.

No Hog-Callers

By TRUMAN TWILL

Both presidential candidates this year are having trouble with their voices. One has lost his voice once already; the other has a sore throat. Only one conclusion is possible.

Microphones and loudspeaker systems have taken the starch and spunk out of office-seekers. They don't have it.

Their vocal cords have become so slack and waxy from dependence on electronic amplification that they can't even sustain a conversational pitch without extra effort.

Office-seekers used to flail their arms and bellow like hog-callers. They didn't even use megaphones. Like that old gaffer, what's his name, Rudy Vallee, used when he ushered in the age of artificial amplification in the mad '20s.

Those old boys had it up front and up high, where it counted. They could stand in a bandstand facing a passel of local yokels massed in the town square and hold them spellbound for an hour with grunts, groans, squawks and squeals.

They could do this day in and day out, with matinee and evening performances. If they were performing from a train platform, they could stroll out back two dozen times a day with nothing but a nip of fruit juice to wash down the pipes and rattle every window within sight of the railroad station.

They opened their traps, filled their bellies with compressed air and tied down the whistle cord. Reading what they are purported to have said, one can see clearly that no one paid much attention to it. It was the way they said it that made their performances memorable.

A holdover from the era of political hog-calling lives within hearing range of our hideaway in Rosy Fingert Dawn. His "speaking stand" is a mile from our house, and during the season when doors and windows stand open we can hear him address his dairy herd, horses or other associates—an this fellow isn't even raising his voice. He is speaking in a conversational tone.

Replace him with an effete modernist, though, and the sound wouldn't carry past the watering trough. Even with amplifiers it couldn't be heard beyond the wagonshed.

The kids don't have it any more. They depend on electronics to beef up their whispers and squeaks to audibility, and even whispering and squeaking put a strain on them.

Their next move will be the pre-recorded speech, which they will go through the motions of mouthing while the thing is placed over a loudspeaker by electronics engineers. This is already done. One of the candidates—the one who has lost his voice—sent a speech to one of the labor union conventions in a can. He didn't come with it, though, to go through the motions of delivering it and a good thing, because somebody pulled a plug and no sound came out.

This will happen sometime to one of those television fakirs who move their lips in synchronization with pre-recorded songs. Someone will pull a plug and there will be silence over a national network—just a flashing of capped teeth, a lot of grimaces—and no singing. Maybe this is what's in store for campaigning, which keeps changing all the time. Maybe we'll all get the hang of pulling the plug. Office-seekers are the slaves of electronic amplification, every last one of them. And that makes us their masters.

Garden Club Picks Officers, Plans December Installation

New officers of the Salem Garden Club, elected at Thursday's meeting in the Ruth Smucker House, will be installed in December.

The officers for the 1961 term are: President, Mrs. V. J. Bober; first vice president, Mrs. J. A. Barrow; second vice president, Mrs. Lester Baldinger; secretary, Mrs. Ray Cuthbert; and treasurer, Mrs. R. L. Davis.

At a morning workshop, conducted by Mrs. Richard Lobb of Canton, corsages were made from both fresh and artificial material. In her discussion on corsage making, Mrs. Lobb explained methods of preparing materials and various ways of assembling them. Fresh and well seasoned materials, line and design are the prime requisites for corsages, the instructor said.

Points used in judging a corsage for show are: Technique, 15; design, 25; color, 15; suitable combination of materials, 15; distinction (originality) 20; and condition of material, 10. Mrs. Lobb also showed how to make frames for wrist corsages and demonstrated the proper use of ribbon.

Those who made corsages at the workshop and received green ribbons are: Mrs. Baldinger, Mrs. V. R. Horning, Mrs. John Botu, Mrs. Earl Johnson, Mrs. Walter Gray, Mrs. Carl Flickinger, Mrs. A. A. Parker and Mrs. William Reardon.

Green ribbons for horticulture exhibits went to Mrs. Flickinger, Mrs. John Little, Mrs. Bober, Mrs. Baldinger, Mrs. W. D. King, Mrs. J. B. Atchison and Mrs. N. L. Reich.

Letters of appreciation were received from the Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children for the work done for and with the class by the garden therapy committee, headed by Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. J. J. Hiegel announced a fall show of pumpkins at Prospect School by the Junior Garden Club members, who were given pumpkin seeds to plant early in the spring.

Mrs. Reardon set the table for the month, using violet as the dominant color for the theme, "Brunch on the Patio." Mrs. George Jones, flower arranging chairman, discussed the correctness of the setting in its arrangement, color, harmony and texture.

Mrs. Jones reported that the Club received $5.00 for exhibits at the Canfield Fair entered by Mrs. Botu and Mrs. William Butler. Mrs. Botu also received an honorable mention for an exhibit at the fair.

Show Tickets Distributed
Tickets for the flower show, which the club is sponsoring Nov. 10 and 11 at the Masonic Temple, were distributed to members by Mrs. J. F. Schmidt.

Mrs. J. C. Pottorf spoke on "Dog and Don'ts in Conservation," and told how closely related conservation is to the economic welfare of our country.

"The Law of Return" is essential to good conservation and what is taken from the earth must be replaced by animal and mineral fertilizers, as well as the addition of finely cut leaves and vegetation, she pointed out.

Mrs. Pottorf also advised that a sour mulch of oak leaves is ideal for broad leaf evergreens requiring an acid soil, while a bland mulch of leaf, grass and vegetation clippings suits roses. She emphasized that unless rich soil is kept on the land, prosperity of people goes down because so much industry relies on produce derived from farming.

One way the average person can aid in conservation, Mrs. Pottorf stated, is to keep the ground covered so that the top soil isn't washed away, and by building compost piles of clippings and vegetable waste materials. She suggests "making America beautiful through conservation."

The dessert committee headed by Mrs. Parker, included Mrs. Flickinger, Mrs. A. V. Smith, Mrs. R. E. Smith, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Z. R. Taylor and Mrs. Charles Corbett.

There will be another morning workshop Oct. 24, with Mrs. William Siemon of Youngstown as the leader in making arrangements. Each member is to bring materials for arranging and also for the flower show schedule. The afternoon program will be "Flower Show Chit-Chat" by Mrs. Siemon and Mrs. Jones. Green ribbons will be awarded for arrangements made in the workshop and in horticulture for chrysanthemums.

Mr., Mrs. Robert Beilhart Jr. To Reside In East Palestine

Following a motor trip to Florida, Robert Lee Beilhart Jr. and his bride, the former Helen Louise Peters, will be at home to their friends at 358 W. Main St., East Palestine.

Rev. Carl Duwe officiated at their double ring wedding ceremony Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Grace Lutheran Church, East Palestine.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Peters of RD, Rogers, and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Beilhart Sr. of RD, New Waterford.

Arrangements of white mums and white gladioli decorated the altar. Mrs. Margaret Walker presided at the organ for the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of white Japanese brocade which she designed and made. The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neck and long pointed sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a crown. White roses and ivy were combined in the bouquet which she carried with a white Bible.

Miss Linda Kay Whitacre of Rogers was maid of honor. She wore a blue taffeta brocade princess dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mark Elick of East Palestine was best man.

Both mothers were dressed in light blue, and they complemented their attire with corsages of pink and white roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride. The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Pink tapers in crystal candelabra lighted the setting.

The Misses Maxine Davis, Carol Whitacre, Darla Watson, Michael Kay Cowan and Edna, Alberta and Jean Dowd served.

Miss Carolyn Lee Beilhart, sister of the bridegroom, registered the 70 guests from East Palestine, Negley and Rogers.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Beaver Local High School. The bridegroom is a 1957 graduate of East Palestine High School.

Couple's Marriage Sept. 16 Disclosed

Mrs. Olive Ewing of RD 3, Lisbon, and Robert Ewing of RD 2, Columbiana, were united in marriage Sept. 16 in Bay Village.

Rev. Richard M. Pettit, pastor of the First Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

Mr. Ewing's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kotis of Cleveland, attended the couple.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, they will reside at RD 2, Columbiana.

World Day Of Prayer To Be Held

World Day of Prayer will be observed here Nov. 4, with tentative plans for holding the service in the First Friends Church. Mrs. Lloyd Parker will be in charge of the program.

Plans for the observance were made at a meeting of the Salem Council of Church Women Thursday in Presbyterian Westminster House. Mrs. A. H. Schropp presided. She appointed Mrs. Byron Maxson to notify all the local churches to collect outing flannel nightgowns for children two to 10 years of age and also all types of yard goods to be turned in for children's relief at the World Day of Prayer service.

Mrs. James Semple reported on the recent Conference of Ohio District Council of Church Women at Wittenberg College.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Harold Deitch. The meeting was closed with the membership repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The Council also sponsored its all day sewing project, the making of puppets for distribution to hospitalized children by the Women's Association of Salem Hospitals. The 14 sewers completed 35 puppets.

Much Improved Quakers Smother Ravens, 43-0

Salem Line Opens Gaping Holes For Rejuvenated Backfield Corps

Janovec Bowls Over for 3 TD's;
Coach Blaine Morton Empties Bench

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Turning in what was by far their best performance of the season, the Salem Quakers completely outclassed a bigger but slower Ravens squad and rolled to an easy, 43-0, victory Friday night at Ravens.

Working behind a first rate line, the Salem backfield really came into its own last night for the first time this season. There has never been any doubt about the defensive prowess of this Quaker squad, but up until last night the offensive punch of the team had not come up to expectations.

Flashing more speed than they've shown all year, halfbacks John DeFavero and Chuck Hertel combined to rack up 120 yards in 18 carries. The most pleasant surprise was the fine running of substitute halfback Dave Edling, 145, junior. The little scatback led the Quaker ball carriers with 72 yards in nine carries after entering the game in the third period.

Coach Blaine Morton cleared his bench in the second half, sending in no action all 39 players who dressed for the game. Ten backfield men contributed to Salem's astronomical total of 314 yards gained rushing. Sophomore Bill Beery guided the team at quarterback for most of the fourth quarter and handled the job like a veteran.

FULLBACK RON JANOVEC carried the pigskin only six times in the game but three of those attempts went for touchdowns. This was the second straight game in which this valuable performer scored 20 points.

Janovec opened the scoring with 7:48 remaining in the first quarter when he smashed off his own left tackle from five yards out. A 31-yard pass from quarterback Gary Devan to end Don Davidson set up the touchdown. Janovec circled left end for the extra points which made the score, 8-0.

Another Devan pass, this one to end Duane McClaskey, covered 26 yards, and gave Salem a 14-0 lead in the final minute of the first quarter. Rick Sulea booted the extra point to give the Quakers a 15-0 margin.

Salem's only touchdown in the second quarter came at the 7:41 mark when Del Favero skirted his own left end and was all alone when he went into the end zone. Once again it was a Devan pass which set up the touchdown. The little quarterback's 27-yard toss to Del Favero had left the pigskin resting on Ravens' three yard line. Sulea kicked the extra point and Salem clung to a 22-0 lead at halftime.

IN THE THIRD period, Janovec smashed over for two touchdowns, one from two yards out and the other from the eight yard line. Del Favero set up the first TD in the third frame when he returned the second half kickoff 48 yards to the Ravens' 34.

Edling's fancy stepping helped get the pigskin into scoring position for Janovec's third touchdown. The junior scampered 26 yards on a quick opener and almost went all the way but was tripped up by the only man who had a chance to stop him.

Salem's sixth and final touchdown came in the first minute of the fourth quarter when substitute fullback Fred Kaiser cut over right tackle to score from the three. Beery added the two extra points on a roll out with a pretty fake which left him wide open.

Beery had another touchdown called back by a clipping penalty, one of six called against the Quakers in the fray. In all the Quakers were penalized 12 times for a total of 130 yards. Ravens drew just four penalties for 28 yards.

SALEM OPENED UP in the passing department last night for the first time this season. Devan completed three of six passes and Beery connected on two of three tries. Two of Devan's tosses were in the hands of receivers but dropped.

Ravenna quarterback Larry Kunar, who is only a sophomore, completed the first four passes he attempted. He was particularly effective with a short toss over the middle to his big, 205-pound end, Jerry Kapusta.

Coach Morton was well pleased with his team's showing last night. "This was just one of those nights when everything seemed to go right," he commented. "We got them with two quick touchdowns. Sometimes that takes a lot out of a team. I think that's what happened to Ravens."

RAVENNA COACH Randy Buchman was high in his praise of the Quakers and despite the drubbing, he wasn't too discouraged about his team's showing. "We actually played better ball against Salem than we did against Akron Kenmore last week," Coach Buchman said. "If we had played this well against Kenmore we would have beaten them." Akron Kenmore beat Ravens, 20-14, last week.

"Blaine (Morton) has done a tremendous job with that Salem team this year," Coach Buchman commented. "He has a lot of green players on that squad but you wouldn't know it to watch them play."

Coach Buchman said he thought the difference in the game last night was in the line play of the two teams. "We have some big boys but," The coach shook his head but didn't finish the statement. "I like that Salem line."

The shutout victory last night was Salem's third in a row this season. The Quakers have blanked their foes in 10 of 12 games over the past two years. The consecutive streak of shutouts has now reached five.

Farrell, Pa., which was upset, 6-0, last night by Butler, will be Salem's opponent next Friday night at Reilly Field.

Springfield Turns Back Salineville

Springfield Township (Jefferson Township) scored a 20-0 victory over Salineville last night on the winners' field.

The victors racked up their third straight win, while the Indians suffered their second loss in three outings.

The big offensive gun for the winners was halfback Willard Talkington. The fleet back tallied two touchdowns and two extra points to chalk up 14 markers for the evening.

Gary Howe took a 13-yard pass from quarterback Bill McConnell and scampered 49 yards to paydirt to the first score. The play covered 62 yards.

Talkington raced seven yards around left end to score the second six pointer of the initial quarter. He also carried around right end to tally the extra points.

After a scoreless second and third period, the Springfield eleven stuck again. McConnell tossed a screen pass to Scott Hornby who carried the pigskin eight yards and then lateraled to Talkington who journeyed the remaining 21 yards to score. The extra point try failed.

Salineville will travel to Beaver Local next Saturday to try to even their mark at 2-2.

Yanks Reduce Magic Number To 4; Chisox Beat Indians

By The Associated Press

You remember those dead old Chicago White Sox? And Early Wynn, the guy they say is over the hill at 40? Well, they're still hanging in there in that American League race, forcing the New York Yankees to win in their drive for their 25th pennant.

Unfortunately for the White Sox, the Yankees are doing just that. They won their seventh in a row and reduced their magic number to four with a 5-1 decision at Boston Friday.

But the defending champs stayed within 4½ games of the top with a 7-0 victory at Cleveland. And it was Wynn who was the winner, pitching a se en-hitter for his 284th career victory and 46th shutout.

Any combination of New York victories and Chicago defeats totaling four eliminates the second-place White Sox. The Yankees' combination is two over the third-place Orioles, who were beaten 4-0 by Washington as Chuck Stobbs pitched his first complete game in three years.

The Yankees have eight games left, Chicago seven and Baltimore six.

Kansas City whipped Detroit 4-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Ned Garver (3-9) in the other AL game.

Louisville Jars Leetonia 20-0

Bears' Sevenich Shines on Defense

Leetonia absorbed its second straight defeat of the season last night as Louisville shut the Bears out on the losers' field, 20-0.

This marks eight consecutive quarters that the Bears have failed to tally a marker. The Bears are 0-2 for the season, while the Leopards evened their mark at 1-1. This was the first Tri-County 1-1 for both clubs.

Fullback Larry Miller chalked up Louisville's first score as he raced one yard around left end to cap a 35-yard drive. A bad pass from Leetonia's center on a fourth down punt situation set up the Leopard score.

In the second stanza quarterback Al Lawver went up the middle on a one-yard plunge to rack up the second Louisville tally. Terry Hanlon passed to Miller for the two-pointer and gave the Leopards a 14-0 halftime advantage. Lawver's six-pointer came after a Leetonia fumble and was the climax to a 26-yard drive.

After a scoreless third quarter the visitors were knocking at the door again in the fourth period. Louisville's Larry Isgro recovered another Bear fumble, and Hanlon scampered three yards to end a 10-yard assault.

Joe Sevenich was a standout on defense again last night as he garnered 12 tackles and was all over the field stopping Leopard backs.

Next week Leetonia will journey to East Palestine in quest for victory number one. Louisville will entertain Sebring which will also seek its first win.

Plans are being made to continue the league next season.

In the National League, Milwaukee's now dead Braves chopped Pittsburgh's winning streak at six with a 2-1 decision over the first-place Pirates. That left the Bucs' magic number at two over the St. Louis Cardinals, who put away a pair of 5-1 victories over the Chicago Cubs in an afternoon doubleheader. Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 6-1 in the only other game.

The Yankees, shut out on five hits by Bill Muffett (6-4) for seven innings, came from behind in a five-run eighth, which began with an error by shortstop Don Buddin. A double by Hector Lopez tied it 1-1, and Roger Maris then broke it up with a single. New York sent 11 men to the plate in the rally.

Bob Turley, removed for a pinch-hitter in the spurt, was the winner for a 3-3 . . . J a . . . giving up three hits and an unearned run. Bobby Shantz rolled up.

The White Sox moped behind Wynn (13-10) with Ted Kluszewski hitting a home run and driving in three runs, and Minnie Minoso rapping a pair of RBI doubles. Minoso was ejected in the ninth, when he threw his bat at reliever Frank Funk after a knockdown pitch. Rookie Stan Johnson batted for Minie and belted his first home run.

Stobbs (12-6) beat Baltimore for the fourth time without a loss this season and stretched his scoreless inning mastery over the Birds to 16. It was his first shutout since his last complete game, Sept. 5, 1957—when he blanked the Orioles 3-0 with a three-hitter.

United School Ekes Out 13-7 Victory Over Chester, W. Va.

United Local School eked out a 13-7 grid victory over Chester, W. Va., in a contest played on the latter's field Friday.

It was the first victory for United out of three games this year.

The area team tallied its touchdowns in the second frame. Dave Metzger, snared an 18-yard pass from quarterback John Hanna for the initial score, capping a 60-yard drive.

Hanna ran over from the one-yard line for the second score. Halfback Dan Jenkins ran for the extra point. (Under West Virginia rules, a successful run after a touchdown scores only one point.)

In that period United staved off a strong Chester drive. The area team sopped Chester on the three-yard line where the losers fumbled and United recovered.

United also broke up a Chester attack in the last period by recovering a Chester fumble on the two.

The losers scored their touchdown in the third period when Charles Mullen hit paydirt following a pass from John Brickerstaff. The play covered 64 yards.

Brickerstaff scored the extra point on a run.

Chester also has a 1-2 season record.

United will meet Greenford at Hanoverton next Saturday.

Milwaukee Puts End To Pittsburgh's Winning Streak

Craves Eke Out 2-1 Victory

Pirates Held to Five Hits by Buhl

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Buhl and Ernie Broglio, a couple of right-handers who have given Pittsburgh trouble all season, now have combined to keep the Pirates' pennant champagne on ice.

The Bucs, who have waited 33 years for a National League pennant party, have to wait a bit longer. Buhl pitched a five-hitter that gave the now dead Milwaukee Braves a 2-1 victory and ended Pittsburgh's winning streak at six Friday night.

That left the Pirates with six games to play and a magic number of two over the second-place Cardinals, who stayed alive with a pair of 5-1 afternoon victories at Chicago. Broglio won the opener with a five-hitter against the Cubs. It was his 21st win, tying Milwaukee's Warren Spahn for the major league lead.

It was Buhl's third victory over Pittsburgh in four decisions. He and Broglio, who won the Cards' final game with the Pirates for a 4-0 record against the Bucs, are the only pitchers who have beaten Pittsburgh three times as starters this season.

The Cardinals, trailing by six games with eight games left, have only a ghost of a chance to catch the Pirates, however, even after winning six of their last seven and 14 of 18. Any combination of two—a pair of Pirate victories, a Buc victory and a Cardinal defeat, or two St. Louis losses—wraps up Pittsburgh's first flag since 1927 and pops the champagne.

Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati 6-1 in the only other NL game scheduled.

Milwaukee defeated the Pirates for only the sixth time in 17 games when Chuck Cottier, a .233 hitter, plunked a single to center in the seventh inning, moved up on Buhl's sacrifice and scored with two out on Del Crandall's bad-hop single off the glove of shortstop Dick Schofield. That beat Red Witt (1-2), who gave up the other run on Billy Bruton's 12th home run, in the third inning.

Buhl (15-9) lost the lead after blanking the Bucs on one hit until the fifth inning. Then Bill Virdon's two-out double tied it after singles by Don Hoak and Schofield. The only other Pirate hit was Bob Skinner's single in the eighth, following an error, that put two men on base with one out. But Buhl left 'em there as Roberto Clemente hit into a doubleplay.

Broglio (21-7) became the first to win 21 for St. Louis since 1946, when left-hander Howie Pollet, now the Cards' pitching coach, won his 21st in a pennant playoff with Brooklyn.

This one was the fifth in a row for Broglio, 25, who extended his shutout string over the Cubs to 24 innings before they scored in the seventh on three singles and an infield out. Bill White had put it away by then, driving in the Cards' first four runs off Glen Hobbie (14-20), three with his 16th homer.

Card Rookie Ray Sadeck (9-8) gave up just five hits in the second game, which was held to seven innings by darkness. Ken Boyer knocked in three runs, one with his 31st home run, off Seth Morehead (2-9).

Redlegs Lose 6-1 to Phillies

Robinson Hits 29th Homer of Season

CINCINNATI (AP)—Did Frank Robinson's distaste for the first base job with Cincinnati have anything to do with his profound batting slump this season?

The cynical will say "yes," and point out his batting has gone steadily up since he was restored to the place he likes, the outfield. But the wise will remember 1959, when he hated the first base job just as much, yet batted a powerful .311 with 36 homers and 125 RBI.

His fourth inning homer Friday night, 29th of the season, was the only Rhinelanders run in a 6-1 loss to lackluster Philadelphia.

His teammates collected six other hits off John Buzhardt, but the pitcher who had lost 11 straight before the game had little trouble taming them.

Only in the fifth did the Reds threaten. Singles by Chico Cardenas and Eddie Kasko plus Vada Pinson's pass filled the bases, but Gus Bell flied out, ending the possibility.

The Phils collected an unearned run in the second on singles by Jim Coker and Bob Wine plus Kasko's error on Buzhardt's grounder.

Buzhardt started the eighth inning uprisings with a single and after Tony Taylor was hit by a pitched ball, Tony Gonzalez singled him home. Then came homer.

An insurance run came in the ninth on a hit batsman, and singles by Wine and John Callison.

The next-to-last game at Crosley Field against the Phils comes today with Gene Conley opposing Cal McLish.

Buckeyes Are 2-Touchdown Favorites Over Mustangs

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes, their lineup dotted with sophomores, were two touchdowns favorites today as they opened the university's 71st football campaign against Southern Methodist's once-beaten Mustangs.

The Texans, who dropped a 23-20 verdict to the Bucs here in 1958, are minus a great passer like Fred Benner or Don Meredith, who put on scintillating aerial shows in previous battles with the Bucs. Two pass interceptions and a fumble led to Missouri's 20-0 verdict over the Mustangs in this season's opener.

Coach Bill Meek of the invaders said he was satisfied the Mustangs have a solid defense, despite the Missouri loss—but that he was worried about the offense.

Long noted for its overhead tactics, the SMU team is now staying on the ground for the most part, he said.

But Woody Hayes of the Bucs, starting his 10th year with a 57-21-5 mark despite last year's disappointing 3-5-1 campaign, said he expected the Texans to be tough.

"With a game under their belt, they won't make the mistakes they did against Missouri," Hayes said. "And remember, a lot of our boys are untested under game pressure. Anything can happen—but I know we have a better team than last year."

In 70 years of gridiron play the Bucs have lost only seven opening games—and only three since 1894. But the last two inaugural defeats were at the hands of Texas teams—Texas Christian in 1957 and Southern Methodist in 1959.

The opening game record isn't as gaudy as the figures indicate, however, since 42 of the 70 have been against Ohio's smaller colleges. Otterbein opened 15 seasons for the Bucs, Ohio Wesleyan 13, Wittenberg 4, Ohio Medical and Akron 2, and Western Reserve.

Oberlin, Otterbein and Akron won the openers from the Bucs from 1891 through 1894.

A crowd of more than 80,000 was assured for today's fray, with the kickoff set for 1:30 p.m. (EST).

Po'and-Columbiana Game Called as Lights Go Out

Poland emerged on the long end of a 20-0 score Friday night at Columbiana in a Tri-County League game called at the half because of a power failure at the stadium.

The lights went off during the intermission while the bands were on the field, and following an hour's delay, in which electricians tried vainly to restore service, the contest was called.

Halfback Bill Zimmer tallied two of the invaders' touchdowns, both in the opening period.

He scampered 20 yards around right end for his first tally and hit paydirt from 35 yards out shortly afterward.

Fullback D. Ingraham bulled his way seven yards to score Poland's final touchdown in the second stanza. Quarterback Bob Ludt passed to O'Brien for the extra points.

Prior to last night's game, both teams had 1-0 records. This was the first Tri-County League contest for each.

Columbiana will be host next Friday to Minerva in another loop game.

Poland will invade Lisbon the same night, also in a Tri-County contest.

Denver, Jan Jose Win Games

Detroit Throttled By Iowa State

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Better days seem ahead for Iowa State in football.

The Cyclones, who have hopes of succeeding Oklahoma as champions of the Big Eight, made it 2 out of 2 Friday night as they crushed Detroit 44-21 behind Dave Hoppmann, a sophomore back heralded as a future All-America.

The game featured the Friday night prelude to today's full slate of college football games. Denver nipped Washington State 28-26. San Jose State downed Brigham Young 21-8 and Mississippi Southern humbled Hardin Simmons 27-0 in other games.

The next few Saturdays will tell the story whether Hoppmann can lead Iowa State to gridiron greatness. On successive weeks in October the Cyclones face Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Missouri and Oklahoma State. Those games should provide a line on what will happen in the Iowa State-Oklahoma game on Nov. 5.

The 20-year-old elusive Hoppmann put on a one-man show against Detroit. The 171-pound tailback scored three touchdowns and passed 51 yards for another. One of his TD's came on a 49-yard jaunt in which he fooled everyone with his deceptive running.

Another sophomore — quarterback Ramiro Escandon — flipped two touchdowns passes that brought Denver its surprise victory over Washington State.

Don Fuell—the former Guntersville, Ala., high school star whose recruitment by Auburn brought the Tigers an NCAA suspension two years ago, starred for Mississippi Southern against Hardin Simmons. The 195-pound junior broke the game open with a 78-yard touchdown run in the second quarter.

A Texan — Johnny Johnson of Port Arthur—led San Jose State to victory over Brigham Young. He scored all three San Jose touchdowns.

Drake whipped Southeast Missouri 17-6.

Toronto Smashed 36-0 by Wellsville

Roger Ours passed for two touchdowns last night as the Wellsville Tigers rolled over Toronto, 36-0.

Besides passing for two six-pointers, he also passed for a two-point conversion and rushed for another. On the receiving end of all of Ours' scoring passes was end, Bob Kiggins.

The winners tallied in every quarter last night, opening up in the first on a two-yard plunge by Fullback John Euill, Bill Hickman, ran the extra point. In the second quarter, Hickman bulled over from one yard and Ours passed for the two-pointers. Minutes later, Ours hit Kiggins for his first TD aerial.

Alvin Thompson, a speedy halfback, took off for 16 yards and a TD in the third, with the Tigers capping scoring in the fourth quarter on Ours' second TD heave.

The win was Wellsville's second. Toronto lost its third in as many outings.

Cunningham Shines In E. Liverpool Win

Quarterback Ken Cunningham was the entire show for East Liverpool Friday night at the Potters turned back an invading Girard squad 22-6.

Cunningham passed for two touchdowns and toted the ball for the Potters' third TD.

He hit end Mike Geon with a 13-yard aerial for the touchdown in the initial period, and tossed to end Tim Archer for the extra points.

In the next period, Cunningham threw a 13-yard pass to halfback Joe Thompson for the TD.

Cunningham went over on a one-yard sneak in the fourth period after a 76-yard march by the Potters.

Archer scored the extra point on a pass—again from Cunningham. Al Marquez went four yards to paydirt for Girard in the second stanza after a drive of 72 yards.

A crowd of 4,000 saw the game at Patterson Field. The Potters are 2-1 for the season.

SISLER TODAY—George Sisler is still very much on the job at 67. The Hall-of-Fame all-round star is batting coach of the pennant-bound Pittsburgh Pirates.

NOTHIN' BUT TROUBLE—Shooting from dense underbrush in a ditch along the first fairway at St. Louis Country Club is James L. Harris of Stillwater, Okla., playing in the second round of U.S. Amateur Golf Tournament. Harris' ball hit trees at right and he needed another shot to get back on the fairway. He took seven strokes on the par-4 hole.

Titans Nip Broncos In Last Seconds

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Racing the clock is becoming a habit with the New York Titans of the American Football League.

The Titans, who lost to Boston last week when a last-minute blocked punt resulted in a Patriots' touchdown, beat the Denver Broncos 28-24 Friday night with a carbon-copy play as Roger Donahoo rambled 10 yards for the winning score with time running out.

The play started with Denver's George Herring dropping back to punt from the 13 with 16 seconds left. He got off the kick but charging Nick Mumley deflected it to the side where Donahoo was standing.

"That was a regular play of ours," laughed Donahoo afterwards.

"Denver should have won the game," said Coach Sammy Baugh of the Titans. "But on the other hand we should have won against Boston."

In the other game on the AFL's split Friday-Sunday program, the upsetting the Patriots 13-0.

The Houston Oilers, leading the Eastern Division, meet the Oakland Raiders and the Los Angeles Chargers invade Dallas for a clash with the Texans in Sunday's action.

Before Donahoo brought the Titans' record to 2-1 with his alert play, the Broncos apparently had won it when quarterback Frank Tripucka hit Lionel Taylor with a 31-yard touchdown pass with three minutes to go.

NO SAIL—At one time, Nazi Germany's Hermann Goering cruised about in this luxury yacht, but it now lies at anchor, unhonored and unwanted, at Oberwinter, West Germany. 'OPERATION' DAY

JUST AS SOME PATIENTS won't soon forget an operation, a student nurse seldom forgets the first one she participates in. Such a day came for Mrs. Virginia Miller, one of 120 students at the Stormount-Vail School of Nursing in Topeka, Kan. From the time she put on her white mask until the operation was successfully performed, she became a member of a life-or-death team. Under careful supervision, she checked the surgical supplies, laid out the equipment on the operating table, readied the surgeon's gloves and watched the operation under the glare of the overhead lights. When the operation ended, Mrs. Miller walked down the hospital corridor with a newly-found sense of confidence.

Mrs. Miller offers a prayer at start.

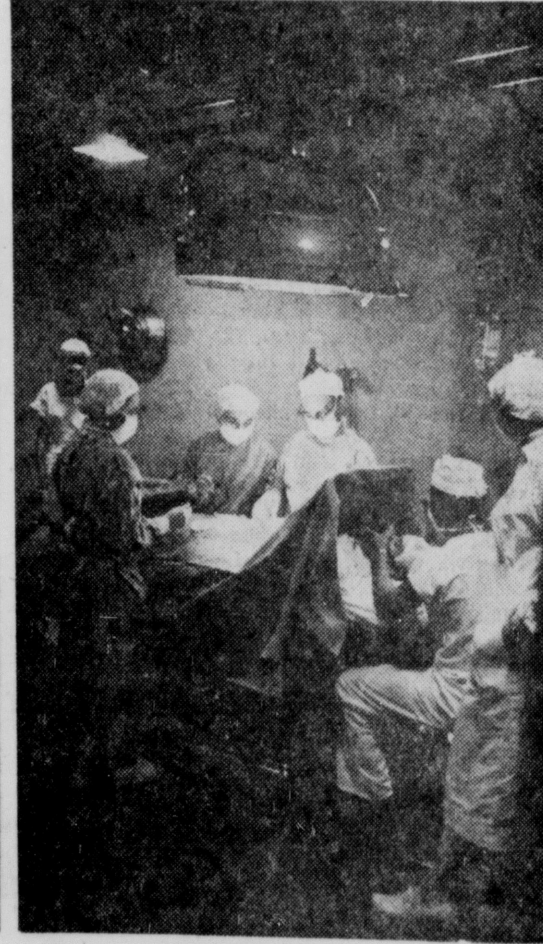

She arranges equipment on suture table.

Nurse Miller hands gloves to the surgeon.

Under glare of lights, she watches alertly.

Mrs. Clyde Woolman Jr. and Mrs. John Hawkins were co-chairmen for the event.

sauntered away. Police estimate he netted $500 a week.

"Banks are lousy with dough," he said.

The saga of Michael Godula ended last week in the small town of Benicia. He was caught stealing $300 from a clothing store. In a suitcase he was carrying was $48,000 in cash and 81,000 shares of mining stock. Friday, the FBI found $70,000 in securities in his rented room in Los Angeles.

Michael pleaded guilty to a charge of grand theft and will be sentenced Monday.

New Administrator At Sebring Church

Rev. Werner E. Hackert is the new administrator at St. Ann's Church in Sebring. He succeeds Rev. F. J. Petros, who died Sept. 8.

Father Hackert, presently assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Church in Alliance, will assume his new duties Friday.

A native of Bochum, Germany, he was educated at the University of Bonn and American College at Louvain, Germany, where he was ordained to the priesthood in July of 1939.

He has been serving in St. Ann's Church since 1950 and had served parishes previously in Warren, South Euclid, Canton and Lowellville.

Russian

and French foreign ministers expressed agreement when they met for dinner in Herter's Waldorf Astoria Hotel suite.

The private dinner had been intended as a routine meeting for an exchange of views. Instead, it apparently developed into a major diplomatic strategy session, lasting into the early hours.

Among the problems believed to have been discussed was the difficulty, under U. N. rules of procedure, of bringing about a quick vote of confidence in Hammarskjold. This raised concern that the secretary-general might personally feel pressure to resign because of the expressed Soviet opposition to him, even though Khrushchev could not force his ouster.

Coupe de Murville said in an interview he thinks one change proposed by Khrushchev, substituting a three-man executive for the secretary-general, is "not a possibility." It would amount to a charter revision "that would require the agreement of practically everybody," he said, and likely will die a natural death.

The next move, if there is to be one, apparently is up to the Soviet camp.

home, but Edmund Maras and Harris could not be found.

They showed up Jan. 4 in a stolen car at Dixon, Ill., where police stopped them for running a traffic signal. Police shot and killed Harris when he drew a revolver. Maras was placed in the Freeport, Ill., jail for return to his county on the motel holdup indictment. He escaped Jan. 14 and has not been located.

Lodge

Earlier, in Warren's Packard Music Hall, a worker said 900 banquet places were filled and more than half the 1,500 balcony seats occupied by non-diners.

Mrs. and Mrs. Lodge received an enthusiastic welcome as they stepped from their plane at Youngstown - Warren airport in balmy weather.

ment leaders, continuing his intensive efforts in personal diplomacy.

Khrushchev—after days of heckling the State Department for confining him to Manhattan Island—said he would go to the Soviet delegation's estate on Glen Cove, Long Island, to spend the weekend.

The Soviet Premier stayed up late, entertaining Fidel Castro at the Soviet delegation's Park Avenue headquarters.

Castro was more than a half-hour late for the dinner date.

Khrushchev stood around, waiting for him in the entrance to the residence. He kept glancing at his watch as the minutes ticked by, but traded quips with reporters.

Castro finally arrived, dressed for dinner in his usual jungle fatigues, and the two embraced, throwing their arms around each other.

Castro stayed five hours. When he left—after midnight—newsmen asked what they discussed. The Cuban leader replied: "Don't worry about that." Later, he said they discussed "peace."

Other diplomats and heads of state were meeting privately in the city, no doubt to discuss the situation brought into being by Khrushchev's monolithic speech.

the Democratic nominee said the public servant was the late Sen. Reed Smoot of Utah, who was an apostle of the Mormon Church.

The church president, David O. McKay, 87, sat on the platform next to the speaker's lectern and joined in the standing ovation for Kennedy.

Kennedy recalled that Smoot's right to a Senate seat was challenged on the grounds that he would subordinate the claims of his country to the claims of his church.

Fortunately, Kennedy said, "The forces of reason and tolerance" enabled Smoot to take his seat.
